One of the greatest assets that a non-profit should have is a strong, energetic, and committed Board of Directors. However, non-profits are typically challenged with finding and retaining the right directors, and running effective meetings. At this session, we will cover the steps that your Board can follow to create a stronger and more engaged Board. Among other topics at this session, we will cover; recruiting and retaining qualified directors, structuring an effective Board meeting, making the best use of Board Committees, and director responsibility.
